@mr_avery I put my class Google calendar on our blog and wiki. Does help keep parents informed. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:58 | plnaugle

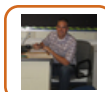

@mr_avery Excellent! I am planning to have a class blog next year, but I'm not totally sure how many parents actually read it? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:58 | lbingley

YEA #6thchat! Congrats on your first night!

17-Jun-11 00:57 | mrmadden77

17-Jun-11 00:51 | MR_Avery

@MrBernia I love how this chat was so much more than when to send home a newsletter! Twitter is great for a teacher's PLN! #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:51 | espanateacher

I've had parents come in and speak about their job. The kids & parents LOVE it. Great way 4 them 2 share real-world experience. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:50 | SARAallen91

#6thchat just like w/ my online courses, I call my parents BEFORE the school year 2 intro myself & say 'hi'. Parents floored every time

17-Jun-11 00:50 | nsharoff

@saraallen91 @plnaugle I seriously want to do this next year. You're on to something! #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:50 | MR_Avery

Thanks to everyone at #6thchat this evening for pushing my thinking so much. Enjoyed it!

17-Jun-11 00:49 | MrBernia

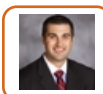

@saraallen91 @plnaugle We do talent show for students. Think getting parents involved is an amazing idea! #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:48 | MR_Avery

@plnaugle We do a variety show rather than a talent show to avoid the competitiveness of parents. :) #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:48 | espanateacher

@LYRichardson Not in my experience, but I cannot speak for others. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:48 | MrBernia

@mrmadden77 @MrBernia Agreed. Students need to take charge. They'd love to be able to teach something to parents! #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:48 | MR_Avery

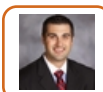

@MR_Avery I did that at a family night this year with a reading game. Big hit! The kiddos loved demoing for their parents. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:47 | mrmalany

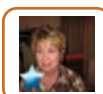

RT @plnaugle: How abt running a stdnt/parent/relative talent show? I think that would be fun & build relationships. #6thchat // Interesting!

17-Jun-11 00:47 | SARAallen91

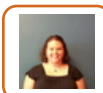

@saraallen91 Those parents want to see our results and understand what the data really means. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:47 | MrBernia

How about running a student/parent/relative talent show? I think that would be fun and build relationships. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:47 | plnaugle

@plnaugle @mr_avery That's a great idea. Tech savvy tech night rather than individual classroom showcases. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:47 | espanateacher

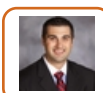

@MrBernia Would be more effective to have students present. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:47 | mrmadden77

@LYRichardson I think it definitely influences the need. No matter what though, students need to feel supported by parents #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:47 | MR_Avery

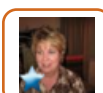

@mr_avery That 20% are the tech night presenters, maybe that will motivate some of the others. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:46 | MrBernia

@plnaugle It's importnt though to have othr jobs 4 non "tech savvy" teachers so they don't feel excluded or non-valued #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:46 | SARAallen91

RT @cybraryman1: @plnaugle @AndreaBudding Sometimes we have to step aside and have the children teach us! #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:46 | plnaugle

@AndreaBudding Sounds familiar! We had student showcase nights, plays, dances, and many other special nights with parent invites. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:46 | lbingley

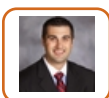

What are the top two or three contributions we NEED from parents? Do socioeconomic factors influence the need? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:45 | LYRichardson

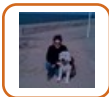

@mrmalany Oh, cleaning baskets, board game baskets, cook-out baskets, movie night baskets, etc. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:45 | SARAallen91

@mrmalany Wireless network, interactive boards, response systems, podcasts, etc. Teachers district wide showed how they integrate. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:45 | MrBernia

RT @stumpteacher: Key to effective parent communication is do it early and often and not just for negative reasons. #6thchat

@saraallen91 Tech night was an open house building wide. Parents roamed to see displays, also had optional formal presentations. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:43 | MrBernia

@cybraryman1 A Smackdown run by kids would be fun. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:43 | plnaugle

@AndreaBudding What type of projects are done? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:43 | MR_Avery

@mrmalany Sounds similar 2 our PTA Bingo/Fun Night where we auction off themed class-baskets. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:43 | SARAallen91

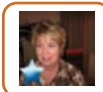

@AndreaBudding Really like the idea of Culminating Presentations #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:43 | cybraryman1

@saraallen91 We also give book vouchers out at family nights for students to our annual book fairs. I hate bribing, but it works. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:40 | cybraryman1

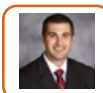

@LYRichardson @AndreaBudding seems like private schools need to show "bang for the buck" and parent events help showcase learning #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:40 | lbingley

@MR_Avery Yes, that is the best way for me to get parents involved. When their child asks them, they don't say no very often. :) #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:39 | espanateacher

@SARAallen91 Parents aren't interested in hearing about challenges. They do find value in hearing about why we choose strategies. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:39 | MrBernia

@MrBernia Did you have your tech night in a computr lab? If so, how did you manage every1? #6thchat

@espanateacher 1:1. First off, I'm jealous. Secondly, I think it's great to have students teach the parents. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:38 | MR_Avery

@espanateacher Technology nights are huge! We had a nice turnout earlier this year, showcasing our implementation. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:37 | MrBernia

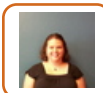

@mr_avery No, students read to their parents/siblings #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:37 | stumpteacher

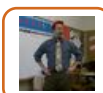

@mr_avery Students presented in Geo and had about 7 parents come in w/out invite. Definitely, making invites next year. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:37 | treadinger

@MR_Avery We invite students to share with their parents what they have been doing in our 1:1 program. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:37 | espanateacher

@saraallen91 We have an incredible PTO, so most events are well attended. We did a Test Prep Family Night...great feedback! #6thchat

For technology night you can have the children teach their parents some of the tools they use. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:36 | cybraryman1

@MrBernia Good point. Otherwise, they might not come back again. What do you engage them in when they come? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:36 | SARAallen91

@mr_avery Yes, but always during the day so eliminates many parents - class plays, project presentations, poetry jams etc. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:36 | plnaugle

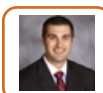

@stumpteacher Students share work with parents? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:36 | MR_Avery

@plnaugle @lyrichardson I've found either that or the opposite: Pay my money so I can be very involved. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:36 | AndreaBudding

We cannot talk to parents like they are teachers, (unless they are). We need to offer details about what we do and why we do it. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:36 | MrBernia

Elem. school, we have literacy, math, and science nights. Very well attended. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:35 | mrmadden77

@mr_avery In the spring I invite parents into my LA class for read alouds. They can bring younger siblings as well. Big hit. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:35 | stumpteacher

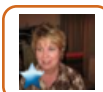

@espanateacher Can you elaborate on the technology night? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:35 | MR_Avery

@MrBernia Food is always a great way to draw them in! #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:35 | MR_Avery

17-Jun-11 00:33 | MR_Avery

@mr_avery We have PTA events like a Sock Hop and Fall Fest; lots of parents come to that. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:33 | SARAallen91

@plnaugle Did Donuts for Dads in FL about twice a year. Not 4 mtgs, just 2 get Dads in the door. Wrkd well, not sure chngd anything #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:32 | mrmadden77

@mr_avery Math Night and Reading Night are two of our most popular events with parent. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:32 | plnaugle

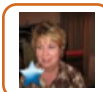

@LYRichardson I usually get about a 75% turnout for those and that's during a weekday. They find ways to support their children. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:32 | MR_Avery

@MrBernia What a great idea! You could even expand w/ a mini-breakfast of donuts/bagels. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:25 | LYRichardson

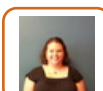

I think "helicopter" parents' time is not put 2 gd use at most schools. giv them a job 2 do. Get them involved in positive way. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:25 | plnaugle

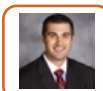

@MrBernia Perhaps in some cases. However, some parents R so rundown at end of day, the last thing they want is 2 deal w/ schl stuff #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:25 | SARAallen91

@SARAallen91 @plnaugle I would agree with that. We get them involved, and they suddenly have less time to worry about their child. #6thchat

@zgporter I post all videos that we do on our blog. Parents love being able to come in occasionally though #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:24 | MR_Avery

@plnaugle I encourage parent involvement, but also point out one main goal of 6th grade is student responsibility. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:24 | treadinger

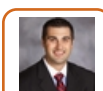

@plnaugle When you start to give in to "helicopter" parents, it can be a dicey road. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:24 | espanateacher

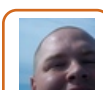

I think it's imprtnt 2 provide parents w/ a list of "ways 2 get involved in our class" so they feel like they have a contribution. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:24 | SARAallen91

@saraallen91 Isn't minimal involvement how communities develop anti-education views? #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:24 | MrBernia

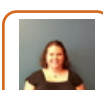

@espanateacher @mr_avery do you post it on the blog? #video #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:23 | zgporter

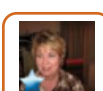

@plnaugle I think "helicopter" parents mainly want a way 2 get involvd & don't always know the best way. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:23 | SARAallen91

@plnaugle We do the best to explain to them, and then we tell them to trust us. That is why they sent their kids to our school. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:23 | espanateacher

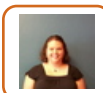

@mr_avery If students' homework was to get parent to write a comment that might work. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:21 | AndreaBudding

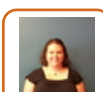

We should give parents homework - comment on class blog or student blog once a week minimum. #6thchat

17-Jun-11 00:21 | plnaugle

@saraallen91 I concur! A waste of paper! Much more effective ways to get in touch with parents. #6thchat
